Table of contents

INTRODUCTION
Paulo Granjo, Sofia Aboim and Alice Ramos

---

PART I

Alterity experiences in displacement

1. Ambiguous boundaries between exclusion and inclusion. Experiences from the Meheba Refugee Camp (Zambia)
Pedro Figueiredo Neto

2. Long-distance nationalism, boundaries and the experience of racism among Santomean migrants in Portugal
José Manuel Sobral

3. Portuguese in the cane: the racialization of labour in Hawaiian plantations
Cristiana Bastos
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PART II</th>
<th>Citizenship and discrimination</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>4.</td>
<td>On marginal inclusion: refugees at the fringes of citizenship in Portugal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Francesco Vacchiano</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.</td>
<td>Opposition towards immigration: the view of natives and immigrants</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Alice Ramos</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.</td>
<td>Socially critical decisions towards low status groups: the role of meritocracy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Rui Costa-Lopes, Ana Filipa Madeira, Mariana Pires de Miranda and Wilson Moreira</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PART III</th>
<th>Mobility and migrations</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>7.</td>
<td>Nodes of inclusion and exclusion: media, context and the shaping of contemporary movements across the Atlantic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Marta Vilar Rosales</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.</td>
<td>Tactics in movement: pursuing social inclusion in transnational migration</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Simone Frangella</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.</td>
<td>Mirroring the dialectic of inclusion and exclusion in ethnoheterogenesis processes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Nina Clara Tiesler</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PART IV</th>
<th>Past to present</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>10.</td>
<td>The “Brasileiro”: a 19th century transnational social category</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Isabel Corrêa da Silva</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
11. Reducing difference in the Portuguese empire?
A case-study from early-modern Goa ................................................................. 241
Ângela Barreto Xavier

12. In and out of history: how a Goan scholar in Bombay imagined a colonial Indian past and a future independent India (1870-1900) .......... 263
Filipa Lowndes Vicente

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PART V</th>
<th>Gender and family</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 13.    | Why are caring masculinities so difficult to achieve?
        Reflections on men and gender equality in Portugal ........................................ 303
        Vanessa Cunha, Leonor Bettencourt Rodrigues, Rita Correia,
        Susana Atalaia and Karin Wall |
| 14.    | Trans masculinities: embodiments, performances and the materiality of gender in times of change ........................................................................ 333
        Sofia Aboim, Pedro Vasconcelos and Sara Merlina |
| 15.    | Family and kinship in contemporary mobile world .............................................. 357
        Marzia Grassi |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PART VI</th>
<th>Learning and working</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 16.    | Including and excluding. Schools’ reputations:
        students, families and choices ................................................................. 383
        Maria Manuel Vieira, Ana Nunes de Almeida and Ana Sofia Ribeiro |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Authors</th>
<th>Pages</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>17.</td>
<td>Inclusions and exclusions in the production and circulation of scientific knowledge: the case of the Royal Anthropological Institute (RAI) and of the Portuguese Society of Anthropology and Ethnology (SPAE)</td>
<td>Patrícia Ferraz de Matos</td>
<td>407</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18.</td>
<td>Inclusion processes in work cultures and their impacts: a comparison of Portuguese and Mozambican cases</td>
<td>Paulo Granjo and João Feijó</td>
<td>431</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PART VII</td>
<td>Spaces and boundaries</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19.</td>
<td>With or without you: models of urban requalification under neoliberalism in Portugal</td>
<td>Sónia Alves and Rosa Branco</td>
<td>457</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20.</td>
<td>Inclusive communities, exclusionary city, planning n/a? Mapping condomínios fechados semi-quantitatively in Lisbon, Cascais (and Barreiro)</td>
<td>Simone Tulumello and Alessandro Colombo</td>
<td>481</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21.</td>
<td>Physical, geographical and social access: the neglected dimensions of food security</td>
<td>Mónica Truninger, Sónia Goulart Cardoso, Fábio Rafael Augusto and Vasco Ramos</td>
<td>509</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
List of figures

1.1 Regional map ...................................................................................................................................... 33
1.2 Meheba refugee settlement map
(as of 2015, adapted from Agier 2011, UNHCR 2017 and Google Maps) .................................................. 35

3.1 “Ancestry, Portuguese”, included in Romanzo Adam’s Interracial Marriage in Hawaii ...................... 71
3.2 “Portuguese women, children and bread at a plantation” ..................................................................... 74
3.3 Portuguese church in Kula, Maui ........................................................................................................ 88
3.4 Portuguese owen, Kepaniwai Park’s Heritage Gardens, Iao Valley, Maui. ........................................... 88
3.5 Traces of Portuguese societies in O’ahu ............................................................................................... 88

5.1 Theoretical model of relations among motivational types of values, higher order value types and bipolar value dimensions ........................................................................................................ 118
5.2 Opposition to immigration (means) 1 (allow many) to 4 (allow none) .................................................. 126

12.1 José Gerson da Cunha (1844-1900). Photographic portrait in carte-de-visite format pasted in the endleaves of his posthumously published book ........................................................................... 266

13.1 Early leavers from education and training (18 to 24 years), by sex (%)
– Portugal, 2005-2015 ................................................................................................................................. 312
13.2 Population distribution by level of educational attainment (total and age group 25-34 (%)) – Portugal, 2014 ............................................................................................................... 312
13.3 Employed population in Education and Human Health and Social Services, proportion by sex (%) – Portugal, 2011 ......................................................................................................................... 315
13.4 Proportion of male teachers, by teaching level (%) – Portugal, 2004/05 – 2014/15 ......................................................................................................................... 315
13.5 Individuals who disagree that men’s take-up of parental leaves has positive effects in helping the father to keep his job, by sex and age group (%) – Portugal, 2014 ................................................................................................................................. 318
13.6 Individuals who agree that the child suffers when the father does not take part in childcare and that the father is as capable as the mother, by sex and age group (%) – Portugal, 2014 ......................................................................................................................... 319
13.7 Sex ratio in causes of death mainly affecting men (sex ratio > 200) – Portugal, 2014 ................................................................................................................................. 321
13.8 Sex ratio at death, by age group (%) – Portugal, 2015 ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 322

17.1 Rai Archive, London, 2016 ................................................................................................................................. 412
17.2 SPAE Archive, Porto, 2015 ................................................................................................................................. 412

18.1 Integrative liminality, through centripetal participation ................................................................................................................................. 435
18.2 Expelling liminality, desired by workers ................................................................................................................................. 442
18.3 Structural liminality, by change refusal ................................................................................................................................. 451

19.1 The Cardosas quarter in the historic centre ................................................................................................................................. 472

20.1 Metropolitan Lisbon and the municipalities of Lisbon, Cascais and Barreiro ................................................................................................................................. 491
20.2 Condomínios Fechados in Lisbon (left) and Cascais (right) ................................................................................................................................. 495
20.3 cf Typologies (multi-villas, apartment building and mixed developments) in Lisbon (left) and Cascais (right) ................................................................................................................................. 495
20.4 Number of housing units in cfs in Lisbon (left) and Cascais (right) ................................................................................................................................. 496
20.5 Temporal stages of production of cfs in Lisbon (left) and Cascais (right) ................................................................................................................................. 496
20.6 CFS and professional-managerial employee rate, 1991, 2001 and 2011 in Lisbon (above) and Cascais (below) ................................................................................................................................. 497
List of tables

5.1 Respondents’ profile .......................................................................................................................... 125
5.2 Predictors of opposition to immigration in European countries (Standardised coefficients) ........ 128

7.1 Migration in Portuguese and Brazilian Media ................................................................................ 169

19.1 List of interviews ............................................................................................................................ 468
19.2 The main strategies and operations drafted and implemented by Porto Vivo srU over the last 10 years ................................................................................................................................ 471

20.1 Main socio-economic and territorial indicators ........................................................................... 492
20.2 Condomínios fechados in Lisbon and Cascais, main findings ......................................................... 494

21.1 The main dimensions of the food security concept .................................................................. 512
List of appendices

5.1 Indicators of basic values and underlying motivations................................................................. 131
5.2 Structure and salience of Schwartz’s values – nationals, immigrants from European countries and immigrants from non-European countries .................................................................................. 132
5.2.2 Values structure – Immigrants from European countries (Multidimensional Scaling – Proxcal; Tucker coefficient of congruence = .981) ...................................................................... 132
5.2.3 Values structure – Immigrants from non-European countries (Multidimensional Scaling – Proxcal; Tucker coefficient of congruence = .978) ...................................................................... 133
5.2.4 Importance attributed to the ten basic values by group (centred means) ................................. 133

20.1 Available works about cfs in the Lisbon metro, with the total number of cfs found per municipality .................................................................................................................................. 503